

DID YOU KNOW?

As the snow recedes, the spring plant growth is incredibly nutritious. This is called “green-up” and is closely aligned with mountain goat reproductive cycles. Climate change is expected to shorten the green-up window, which will make it harder for nannies to recover after kidding and can impact kid survival rates.